Genetically Modified (GM) Food

Wednesday,
January 11, 7:00 pm: Did you know that genetically modified food is not new and that it's been around for centuries? Join Mike Cross, department chair of Natural Sciences at Northern Essex Community College (NECC), for a presentation that will explore the world of GM food, including how it's created and how abundant it is in our food supply. In addition to being department chair, Mike holds Ph.D. in organic chemistry and teaches chemistry and forensic science. The program is cosponsored by the NECC Speaker's Bureau.

Living My Dream: Challenging FEAR by Cycling Across America

Tuesday,
January 31, 7:00 pm: Entrepreneur, social enterprise philanthropist, photographer and speaker Dick Simon embarked on a cross country bike trip in the summer of 2016, a summer of political polarization, media accounts of police shootings and escalating conflict in Syria. The trip was the combination of a lifelong "bucket list" dream, an immense physical test, an opportunity to overcome fears and revel in solitude, as well as a kNOW THEM challenge of Simon's own preconceived notions of THEM, those who live differently and have differing political views. Over the course of three months he pedaled 3,957.5 miles through ten states including Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana, North Dakota, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan, New York and Massachusetts, as well as 300 miles in Canada. Join him for an illustrated talk about this incredible journey.

Dick Simon shares the untold human stories behind the headlines in regions of conflict around the world, bridging the gap between "us" and "them". In 2012 Simon launched the kNOW THEM Initiative, raising individual and collective awareness about what he calls the most dangerous four-letter word in the English language, THEM, for its ability to marginalize, dehumanize and create conflict.

Brexit: How Did We Get Here and What Does It Mean for the Future?

Tuesday,
January 24,
7:00 pm: On June 23, 2016,

after 43 years of membership, the UK voted to leave the EU. This is an unprecedented step and challenges both the UK and the EU to redefine both their regional and global purpose. Boston College visiting professor Peter Maloney will give a talk that covers the political tensions present throughout the UK's membership, the long and short-term causes of the referendum vote and the choices that now face all interested parties. In particular he will explore the reasons behind Britain's "awkward" relationship with Europe, the flash points of tension between the UK and its EU partners and the consequences of Brexit for the UK, the EU and the U.S.

Peter Maloney studies the evolution of modern international governance, focusing on the EU and its forerunner the European Economic Community (EEC). He has published articles in the Irish Times, CNBC.com, Vox.com and IrishCentral.com.

Art Exhibits: January 4-30

Gallery: The Surreal Art of Cynthia Brody: Familiar/Impossible Images of Women

Reception: Saturday, January 7, 1:00 pm

By: C. Brody

On view January 4-30: Cynthia Brody combines photo imagery with acrylic paints and found materials to create allegorical stories and moods. For this show she has created pieces that depict Victorian era women, often in surreal surroundings. She enjoys giving a new life to these women who are no longer alive as she casts them in unusual environments. It is only upon closer inspection that the viewer recognizes the foreign elements. Her works incorporate elements of beauty contrasted with the strong statements and pensive attitudes of the women depicted. In most cases the stories develop around the character, as do the clothing and position. It is all a mystery, even to the artist, until completed.

Main Hall: Seasonal Bouquets: Wild and Cultivated by Leann Shamash

Reception: Thursday, January 5, 7:00 pm

By: L. Shamash

On view January 4-30: Leann Shamash uses the wordless language of photography as a way to share the world as she sees it. This series of photos, taken in more or less chronological order from April through November, documents the foliage and flowers in the artist's yard (and in some cases nearby yards). Through her art, Ms. Shamash hopes to share the beauty, diversity, strength, color and wonder of these plants.

Second Floor Teen Gallery

An accurate reflection of the work produced by Newton North visual arts students will be on view through spring 2017. Thanks to Eric Blomster of Abraxis Framing Co. who provided the frames cost-free.

January Display Cases

Atrium Case One: Find out about the library's ELL & Literacy program including opportunities for volunteer tutors and learners. Info: 617-796-1364 or email NewtonELL@minlib.net. Visit us at ell.newtonfreelibrary.net. On view January 4-30.

Atrium Case Two: Learn about Newton's Sister City Project (SCP) in San Juan del Sur, Nicaragua. Since 1989 the project has been working to improve education and public health there and sending volunteers from Newton North and South High Schools. In that time the Newton SCP has financed nearly 18 one-room schoolhouses in rural communities, and supported the highly successful Free High School for Adults, with 1001 graduates since 2002. Thanks to Newton, hundreds of families now have efficient Ecostoves with chimneys that get smoke out of rural houses and BioSand Filters, that rid contaminated well water of harmful bacteria and parasites. Find out about volunteer opportunities at: sanjuandelsursistercityproject.wordpress.com/volunteer/ or email david.gullette@simmons.edu. On view January 4-30.

Three Main Hall Cases: *Hail to the (New) Chiefs traces the history of elections and inaugurations in Newton. Learn about some of the city's most illustrious elected officials through their campaign materials including the first mayor, James F.C. Hyde, and the first female alderman, Adelaide Ball. See artifacts from the Newton Women's Suffrage League and quilt patterns influenced by politics. Consider how a wooden box once used to collect paper ballots compares to our electronic systems today. Presented by Historic Newton. On view January 4-30.

Third Floor Language and Literacy Center Country Display: Learn about Cambodia from a display of books, CDs and DVDs! On view January 4-30.

Teen Programs

Sweet Reads, Tuesday, January 3, 7:30 pm, second floor Teen Area:

Kids in grades 7-8 and their parents come together to talk about a new book each month and enjoy desserts! All are expected to read the book in advance in order to discuss it together in the book group. We meet once a month on 1/3, 2/7, 3/7, 4/4, 5/2 and 6/6. Online registration (required) is for all months.

Teen Coding Meetups, Sunday, January 8 & 22, 2:30-4:30 pm, Meeting Room A:

Do you know the basics of coding? Are you looking to extend your skill set while meeting like-minded teens in an informal environment? Keep on coding at our new series for teens in grades 6-12. Open to any teen with an understanding of the core elements of coding: variables, conditionals, loops and functions. No registration required, just drop by! We have a limited number of laptops, so please bring one if you can. Upcoming Meetups: February 5, 12 & 26, March 12 & 26, April 9 & 23, May 7 & 21 and June 4.

Teen Crafterhours, Monday, January 9, 6:30 pm, second floor Teen Area:

We meet on the second Monday of every month to make crafts and eat snacks. Come make paper beads! Register online.

Python Workshops, Wednesdays, January 18 & 25 and February 1, 8 & 15, 4:00 pm, second floor Computer Center:

Join us for a series of five workshops where we will work individually and as a class to write a few fun applications in Python. No prior coding experience is necessary. Students who attend at least 4 out of 5 sessions will receive a certificate of completion. Grades 7-12. Online registration begins three weeks before each session. Learn to write the following programs:

- 01/18: To generate a random password

- 01/25: Let the user play a text-based adventure game
- 02/01: Test mental math skills (this program, if time permits, may include database basics)
- 02/08: Automatically read the article headlines from a popular news website
- 02/15: Make a poem from a random set of the words in said headlines

Typewriter Poetry, Monday, January 30, 7:00 pm, second floor Teen Area:

Get creative with the monthly Typewriter Poetry group. We'll be getting together to use old-school typewriters to write poems for library patrons on the spot! Grades 7-12.

Books & Brownies, Tuesday, January 31, 7:00 pm, second floor Teen Area:

Join us for the parent/guardian and teen book club and enjoy brownies! The group will discuss March by John Lewis. Grades 9-12 and their adult.

TWIG, Tuesday, January 3, 4:00 pm, second floor Teen Area:

Newton TWIG (Tween Interest Group) is a group of tweens (kids in grades 5-7) interested in contributing ideas and having a voice about Newton Free Library programs, services, collection and more! Basically it's you telling us how best to serve you! Get in on the conversation, have fun and enjoy snacks.

Winter Scarf Workshops, Wednesdays, January 4, 11, 18 & 25, 4:00 pm, second floor Teen Area:

Ever wanted to knit or crochet a scarf? The beginning of the year is a great time to try something new! Join us for a four-part series where we'll attempt to finish a scarf. We will provide the needles or hooks and yarn. Refreshments will be served. Open to ages 10 and up. Registration is for all four workshops.

Tween Crafternoon, Tuesday, January 10, 3:30 pm, second floor Teen Area:

We meet on the second Tuesday of every month to make crafts and eat snacks. This month we'll be making snow globes. Grades 5-7.

Art Robots, Thursday, January 12, 4:00 pm, Druker Auditorium:

Join us for a Science Club for Girls workshop. Attendees will become electrical engineering artists through the challenge of constructing an art-creating robot from simple circuits. Girls will learn and discuss elements of electrical engineering and different forms of art, and will design and build a "robot" that autonomously creates art using littleBits. For girls in grades 5-7. Register online.

LEGO WeDo, Thursday, January 12, 7:00 pm & Tuesday, January 31, 3:00 pm, second floor Computer Center:

Awaken kids' curiosity and their interest in problem solving! Kids build LEGO models and then program them to move and react. Sign up for one or both workshops! For grades 5-6. Registration begins three weeks before the workshop.

STEM Workshop: Build Bridges, Saturday, January 14, 1:00 pm, Druker Auditorium:

Come have fun at a Moms as Mentors® program that offers interactive team-building, hands-on STEM and bonding activities for girls and moms. Leave with take-home tools to help nurture an interest in STEM! For girls in grades 6-8 with their parent or caregiver (the accompanying adult does not have to be a mom). Online registration (required) began on Thursday, December 1.

Wolves of the Forest Floor with Brooks Mathewson

Wednesday, January 18, 7:00 pm: Participation in ecological studies is a tremendous way for students to engage in inquiry-based learning while developing a deep appreciation for the environment. With this in mind, ecologist Brooks Mathewson has been working with local schools to set up long-term studies of terrestrial salamanders, the most abundant vertebrates in our forests and excellent indicators of forest health. As top-level predators of the forest floor, salamanders reduce soil decomposition rates though their predation on soil invertebrates, and help to increase the amount of carbon stored in forest soils. In this talk Brooks will discuss the research he is conducting on terrestrial salamanders at Cabot Woods with the help of students from Newton North High School.

Brooks Mathewson is an ecologist, photographer and educator with a Master's Degree in Forest Science from Harvard University. His research on terrestrial salamanders has been published in peer-reviewed journals and his photography has been featured in the Boston Globe, Northeastern Naturalist, Wildlife Professional and Massachusetts Wildlife.

Ornithology: The Music and Life of Charlie Parker

Sunday, January 8, 2:00 pm: Ornithology chronicles the revolutionary music and meteoric life of alto saxophonist Charlie Parker. Pianist Matt Marcus, alto saxophonist John Purcell and their rhythm section will recreate Parker's own compositions such as Yardbird Suite, as well as jazz standards Parker made famous, including Just Friends, Cherokee and Lover Man. Brief biographical vignettes will accompany the compositions.

Bacharach Before and Beyond

Sunday, January 15, 2:00 pm: Join Russian-American pianist Sasha Papernik and her trio as they explore the songbook of Burt Bacharach and Hal David. The program will also include music influential to Bacharach's style from the lyricism of Peter Tchaikovsky to the ragged rhythms of Scott Joplin and original music informed by Bacharach's legacy. The performers will be:

- Sasha Papernik, piano/vocals
- Justin Poindexter, guitar/vocals
- Kyle Saulnier, upright bass

An Afternoon of Classical Music

Sunday, January 22, 2:00 pm: Young Sin Choi, viola, SoYoung Gwon, violin, Yoo Sun Na, soprano and Tae Kim, piano, will perform works of George Frideric Handel, Johannes Brahms, George Enesco and Rebecca Clarke.

Young Sin Choi won numerous competitions in South Korea and Germany. ### SCORE Workshop: Funding your Business with Traditional and Alternate Lending Solutions

Tuesday, January 17, 10:00 am-12:00 pm, Druker Auditorium: Insufficient access to capital is a leading reason for many small business failures. Come to this workshop to learn about the underwriting model that traditional banks and alternate lenders use to determine whether to fund you or not. Topics will include:

- SBA loans
- Accounts receivable financing
- Working capital solutions
- Unsecured lines of credit
- Purchase order financing
- Owner-occupied commercial property financing
- Equipment leasing and more

This workshop is geared towards companies of all sizes and stages ranging from start-ups with no revenue that need a line of credit to make purchases to profitable VC-backed companies that need a working capital solution to help manage their cash flow.

The program will be facilitated by SCORE mentor Steve Habermas of VeriLync Capital Solutions. Cosponsored by SCORE Boston. Register (required) at: boston.score.org or call 617-565-5591.
